Scout Olympics slated Saturday

The Trails West Council of the Boy Scouts of America will hold its annual Scout Olympics on Saturday, May 9, on the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

Registration for participants will begin at 9 a.m., with events commencing at 10 a.m. for all age groups. Events will be held rain or shine.

All Cub Scout packs and Boy Scout troops in the Trails West Council are eligible to participate.

Any Scout who sells six Scout Olympics coupons is eligible to compete for awards.

Scouts will compete in four age categories, with five events in each. First, second and third place medals will be awarded in each event in each age group, with trophies for each overall winner.

Driving class set

A "55-Alive" driving course will be held at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, 4950 Maryville Road, on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 12 and 13, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Room 316.

The cost per person is $8 for the two-day session and may be paid on the first day of the class.

Only persons 55 and older are eligible.

Most insurance companies allow a discount for seniors who have taken this class. To register, persons may call the Retired Senior Volunteer Program at 931-0600, extension 546, between 9 a.m. and 12:45 p.m.

Venice seeking to ease tensions

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Venice officials are looking at ways to ease tensions in the city this spring and summer.

The action comes in the wake of two reported incidents last week involving large numbers of people in Venice, apparent reactions to the acquittal of Los Angeles police officers April 30.

Commenting on the situation at Tuesday night's City Council meeting, Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said that violence cannot be justified anywhere, adding that it always victimizes innocent people.

But there is "great discontent in this country from the hurting economy. The federal government is giving cities like Venice less and less, while cutting education."

Echols said, "Where do you find the answers?"

"We need to prepare for what we are going to do when school is out," Alderman John Henry Williams commented.

"Many young people will have nothing to do and nowhere to go. If we don't prepare, we're going to have a long, hot summer of hate groups, gangs and violence, and you know it."

Alderman Silver Franklin told the City Council, "I have been working with the Partnership Youth Development on a partnership program with the city and the park district that would bring a $5,000 FYD grant to the city for recreational equipment, like pool tables for ages 14 through 19."

Franklin said he hopes the city and parks can also provide funds for the program to offer recreation to youths during evening hours. And Franklin is working to offer Little League softball for ages 6-12 this summer, he said.

The first of the two incidents occurred Thursday night. At 10:30 p.m. police were dispatched to the 200 block of Weaver Street when a crowd of 200 assembled.

Several bottles and bricks were thrown toward the police car upon its approach. (See VENICE, Page 8A)

Split verdict Willoughby acquitted of rape, guilty of restraint

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

A Madison County judge on Tuesday acquitted a Venice man of attempted rape but a jury found the man guilty of the one remaining felony charge against him, unlawful restraint.

Chief Criminal Court Judge Edward C. Ferguson acquitted Larry Willoughby, 46, of aggravated criminal sexual assault after Willoughby's attorney asked for a directed verdict on the charges in mid-trial.

Defense attorney Ron Sleser said there was insufficient evidence demonstrated by the prosecution on any of the charges.

Sleser cited other rape-attempt cases, saying that a conviction would require a "substantial act toward the commission" of a rape.

While the 61-year-old victim testified that Willoughby lay on top of her and told her of his intentions, Ferguson ruled that this was not enough to constitute an attempted rape.

"It falls short of being a substantial step toward the act of penetration," Ferguson said.

The charges stem from an April 18, 1991, occurrence in which Willoughby went to the woman's Mitchell home at around 6 a.m. According to the woman's testimony, Willoughby was let into the residence by her 19-year-old grandson, who lives with her.

The woman said she thought that her grandson had let some friends into the house, so she was not surprised to hear someone use the home's bathroom, located next to her bedroom, where she had been sleeping.

But she said she was surprised when Willoughby appeared in her room, told her he just wanted to bring her some cigarettes, said he was very tired and that he wanted a place to lie down because he had no home.

The victim said she told Willoughby she did not smoke and to go to his mother's Venice home or to sleep on the living room sofa. He declined, she said. (See VERDICT, Page 8A)

Smoking — A fire at Reilly Tar & Chemical Co. late Wednesday morning apparently started with an explosion in the Number 4 still. Approximately 14 firefighters required treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for exposure to potentially harmful substances. Both Granite City and Long Lake fire departments responded to the fire. Additional information was not available at press time.

City may stop private sewer work

Quick! Call the street department now before it's too late.

Another "user fee" was nearly established in Granite City for a service previously provided free of charge. But instead of charging for the service, the City Council decided to consider eliminating it altogether.

The City Council considered Tuesday night an ordinance which would have established an $80 fee for clearing or routing private sewer lines.

The service has been provided by the street department without charge to city residents and businesses for more than 20 years.

But after some lively debate on the subject, consideration of the ordinance was withdrawn and the council, on the recommendation of Street and Alley Committee Chairman Dan Partney, asked the city attorney staff to prepare an ordinance eliminating the service altogether. That action is expected soon, officials said.

Some private sewer routing services in the Granite City area charge between $50 and $65 per hour. Some have an additional charge for equipment use. Others will not quote a price until they inspect the site.

Street Superintendent Clayton "Jug" Harrison is against establishing a fee and against eliminating the city service.

"In my opinion, this is one of the best services the city provides," Harrison said. But Mayor Von Dee Cruse and some aldermen said residents have been abusing the service — a service they feel the city should not be providing in the first place.

The service is provided by businesses. (See SEWERS, Page 8A)

Woman faces more theft charges

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Alice Rogers is behind bars for the second time this year, charged Tuesday with victimizing three area men out of $2,400.

The 38-year-old Rogers, of the 700 block of Ashland Avenue in Mitchell, was arrested Tuesday morning at the National Food Store on Madison Avenue in Granite City and was charged Wednesday with three felony counts of theft. The charges were authorized by Associate Judge Lawrence Keshner.

She was being held at the Granite City Jail on Wednesday pending $20,000 bond on each charge.

Rogers allegedly victimized three Granite City men, ages 32, 42 and 76, and could face six to 30 years in prison if convicted on all three counts, officials said. She already was facing a potential six to 16 years if convicted of a $4,500 scam; she was arrested March 24 in Granite City on a warrant alleging two counts of deceptive practice and one count of forgery.

She was free on bond, awaiting trial, when apprehended this week.

Authorities alleged that at National on Tuesday she approached an 82-year-old retired Granite City resident, minutes after he had cashed his

Cruse vows to block new city stop signs

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Reacting to a deluge of traffic sign requests from aldermen, the mayor has threatened to use a stop sign of his own — the veto.

"If the aldermen want the stop signs, that's OK. But they'll have to do it with a two-thirds vote. I'm going to veto every one of them," Mayor Von Dee Cruse said Tuesday night.

Five intersections were targeted for the red and white octagonal symbols at the April 28 City Council meeting. The mayor's comment came on the heels of a sixth request, for two additional signs at the intersection of Benton and 2nd streets, May 5.

Saying the situation is "way out of control," Cruse said he would veto all future ordinances establishing stop signs unless they are recommended by the engineering staff or the Illinois Department of Transportation.

But, he said, he will not veto the latest request. "It wouldn't be fair to surprise them and deny this one," he said.

Stop intersections were established at West 25th Street and Missouri Avenue; Westmoreland and Parkview drives; West 21st Street and Dewey Avenue; 25th Street and August Avenue; and Shaefer and Pontoon roads, all at the April 28 meeting.

"All I can say is I'm glad I already got mine," 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney said.

Granite City vehicle license stickers are available through May 12 at City Hall and at banks.

Persons with disabilities, disabled veterans and senior citizens (age 65 by May 15) may purchase one discount sticker per family at a cost of $1. Discount stickers are not available at banks and must be purchased at City Clerk Bob Stevens' office at City Hall.

Vehicle registration, carbon, driver's license and proof of age and disability (where applicable) are required.

Stickers may be purchased at any Area Bank at Stevens' office, or by mailing a check payable to the City of Granite City, along with copies of required information, to: Robert W. Stevens, City Clerk, 200 Edison Ave.

Good riddance — Venice Alderman John Henry Williams oversees a city crew as it demolishes an infamous vacant house in the 300 block of Weaver Street that neighbors and police say has been used for "every conceivable illegal and immoral purpose." Williams said Mayor Tyrone Echols and the Venice City Council have begun to move quickly against owners of derelict vacant buildings.

Recently a man who had lost his job came to this office contemplating bankruptcy. He was four months behind on his trailer payment and five months in arrears on his car payment. Both of these assets were pledged as security on bank notes. The creditors were threatening to repossess these items of personal property if the arrears were not paid in full.

The question arose as to whether the debtor should file a Chapter 7 bankruptcy, also known as a "straight" bankruptcy, or a Chapter 13 Wage Earner Plan. Under a Chapter 7, the debtor lists all of his unsecured debts on the bankruptcy petition and usually is allowed to discharge in full all of these obligations. With a Chapter 13, however, the individual sets up a plan to pay the creditors on a monthly basis over a three to five year period.

In helping the client decide what course of action to follow, the primary question was whether the debtor wished to keep the trailer and car or surrender them to the creditors. If the client hoped to keep the property and filed a Chapter 7 straight bankruptcy, he would have to immediately bring all the arrearages current. In most cases where people are experiencing financial difficulties, of course, they are unable to instantly pay four or five months of payments. One advantage to a Chapter 13 Wage Earner Plan in this situation is that the debtor can pay the back payments over a three to five year period and thus keep the property. The creditor is not allowed to repossess the property if the debtor files a Chapter 13 and makes his back payments on a regular basis.

What course of action would be best for the client in our example? In this case, the debtor was only drawing unemployment benefits and was unable to make the monthly payments on the trailer or the car. To establish a Chapter 13 Plan and attempt to pay the back payments over time appeared to be a futile effort. The debtor was not interested in the assets due to his present financial situation. In this case, he decided to file a Chapter 7 straight bankruptcy and return the trailer and car to the respective creditors. This meant that the creditors could never pursue him in an effort to collect any balances owed on the notes.

Perot ballot drive starts in county

A petition drive is under way to put Texas businessman H. Ross Perot on the Illinois ballot as an independent presidential candidate.

Volunteers began circulating petitions Tuesday, according to Lee Presser of Glen Carbon, Perot campaign coordinator for Madison and St. Clair counties.

Petitions with 25,000 signatures are needed to place Perot's name on the Illinois ballot. "People are signing up like crazy," Presser said Tuesday at a news conference. "I believe that the 25,000 signatures are a foregone conclusion. The man's already at 30 percent in the polls. It's just not that difficult."

The petition drive will continue through late July. People are excited about having a candidate outside the traditional party organizations, Presser said.

"They're so sick and tired of having politicians who are bought and paid for," he said. "People are sick and tired of PAC (political action committee) money."

Perot has said he would spend $100-million of his personal fortune if he decides to enter the presidential race.

Perot supporters are "very concerned at what we're facing — the bankruptcy of the United States of America," Presser said.

People who want to help with the campaign are invited to a meeting at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Randy's Restaurant at the intersection of Interstates 55-70 and Illinois 162 in Troy.

Presser said Perot supporters also will be putting together a local organization to get out the vote for Perot in November.

"Unlike the Democrats and Republicans who already have the precinct committeemen here in the community, we are still at the beginning," Presser said.

Presser earlier this year tried unsuccessfully to get on the ballot as an independent candidate for U.S. representative in the 20th Congressional District. A 40-year-old U.S. Navy Reserve lieutenant and private consultant, he obtained only about 1,000 of the 5,000 petition signatures he needed.

Presser complained that the 5,000-signature requirement was unfair when candidates of established parties need only 600 to run in the primary elections.

Had he been successful, Presser would have joined incumbent U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin, D-Springfield, and Madison County Treasurer John Shimkus, a Republican, in the race for the 20th District House seat.

Back in the saddle

Attorney returns to role as prosecutor

Veteran prosecutor Keith Jensen is back in the law enforcement business.

Illinois Attorney General Roland Burris has appointed Jensen director of a new Violent Crime Strike Force that will target unsolved homicides and other violent crimes in St. Clair and Madison counties.

It is an assignment Jensen, an attorney with the Callis Law Firm in Granite City, relishes.

This is an ideal situation because it allows me not only to keep a foot in civil practice, but to prosecute as well and keep my trial skills finely honed," Jensen said.

Jensen, 40, of Glen Carbon, has prosecuted major crimes in several counties.

He was a Madison County assistant state's attorney from 1977 to 1984, a St. Clair County assistant state's attorney, and a special prosecutor in Madison, Jersey, Fayette and Cumberland counties.

The strike force includes six detectives but can draw on the full resources of the State Police as needed, Jensen said. It will assist local police and prosecutors in unsolved cases where investigative help could make a difference.

"If it works correctly," he said, "there will be an unlimited amount of time to take a case and put it under a microscope and run down every possible lead and loose end. If there is a prosecution at that point, fine. If there isn't, then everything that's possible will have been done."

Jensen, who recently resigned from his post on Pontoon Beach village attorney, said the focus would be on St. Clair County, particularly the East St. Louis area, because that's where most of the area's unsolved homicides will also get attention.

He thinks the 42 percent clearance rate for East St. Louis homicides can be significantly improved. The police department there is underbarged and undermanned, he said.

The task force is financed by a two-year grant that may be renewed if the pilot program is successful.

Jensen said he and Assistant Attorney General Agatha McKeel, deputy director of the strike force, may present evidence to grand juries or take cases to trial, depending on the wishes of local state's attorneys.

Jensen, a native of Normal, and his wife, Susan, from Port Arthur, Texas, met as students at the Washington University School of Law. After graduation, Keith Jensen went to work for then-Madison County State's Attorney Nick Byron, while Susan was working as an intern. They were married in May 1977.

They were thought to be the only husband-wife team of prosecutors in Illinois when Susan Jensen became a full-time assistant state's attorney in 1978. She now prosecutes felony cases for the office.

Keith Jensen, an attorney with the Callis Law Firm in Granite City, says they have little leisure time other than for their children's soccer games or ballet lessons. The Jensens have three children — Melissa, 12, Chris, 7, and Casey, 5.

But there's still time for polishing or tinkering with one of the family's unusual cars — Susan's 1994 Buick, a 1967 Lincoln Continental four-door convertible or a Ford Model A replica Keith found a few months ago.

"None of them are show cars," Jensen said. "There's more enjoyment in driving the vehicles, and the kids love them."

Citizens group is planning meeting on Eticam Tuesday

The citizens' group opposed to the proposed Eticam hazardous waste treatment plant will hold a public meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 12, at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

The main topic to be discussed will be the city's emergency response plan for the proposed facility and the surrounding area.

City officials have been invited to answer questions regarding evacuation and other emergency procedures in the event of a disaster, according to Kathy Andria, one of the meeting's organizers.

At the meeting, citizens will also be advised on how to best address their concerns to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency about the proposed plant and its operating permit, currently being considered by the IEPA, Andria said.

The IEPA will hold a public hearing concerning the Eticam permit at 7 p.m. May 26 at the Granite City High School auditorium.

Andria said more than 3,000 names have been collected on petitions opposing permitting any new hazardous-waste facility to be located in this area.

She said that those who have not yet turned in their petitions should bring them to the May 12 meeting or call 876-8401 or 451-0221 to have the petitions picked up.

Plain talk thwarted again

(From the Waukegan News-Sun)

The Illinois House Judiciary Committee, composed almost entirely of lawyers, had a golden opportunity to eschew obfuscation, but failed to seize the day.

The committee recently rejected state Treasurer Patrick Quinn's proposal to require all contracts under $100,000 to be written in plain, non-legal language.

Heaven forbid that lawyers should change their habits. That would be something new and untold.

Over the years, they have developed a special sort of code, a legal lingo that is mostly understood only by themselves. Their gargantuan, snake-like sentences frustrate consumers no end.

They should all read the book "Plain English for Lawyers," by Richard Wydick, who says, "Good legal writing should not differ, without good reason, from ordinary, well-written English."

Plain English is often more precise than complicated legalisms. It hits the nail on the head instead of pounding all around it. Lawyerisms such as "null and void," "cease and desist" and "perform and discharge" are redundant. "Null," "cease" and "perform" would do just fine. "Aforementioned" and "whereas" are clumsy, too.

As Wydick noted, no lawyer in dinner table conversation says: "The green beans are excellent; please pass said green beans."

Voltaire urged, "Let all the laws be clear, uniform, and concise."

Thomas Jefferson and Will Rogers are among those who have urged lawyers to dispense with the mumbo jumbo and now Treasurer Quinn's excellent suggestion has been ignored, too.

Nice try anyway, Pat.

Endorses 'none of the above'

(Carol Clarkin writes a weekly column in the Edwardsville Journal.)

Talk is cheap, we've always been told. Just as we've been brought up to believe that we get what we pay for.

Well, so far into our current election year, we've been getting a lot of talk, cheap and getting cheaper. As far as I can tell, it's not worth a whole lot.

In fact, when it comes to content, it reminds me of what a former American vice president, John Nance Garner, once said of the vice-presidency — "...it ain't worth a pitcher of warm spit."

Lots of sniping, on a personal level, and lots of name calling. The mayor of St. Louis says his opponent is a "redneck from Rolla." Just another public outburst of Vince's well-known problems with hoof-in-mouth disease.

We know that Bill Clinton took a couple of quick puffs of grass, but didn't inhale. Awe, come on.

The jury isn't in yet on whether or not someone saw drugs in Jerry Brown's digs, back when he and Linda Ronstadt were an item.

Did Clinton deflower Jennifer (what a perfectly swell spelling) Flowers and is there more than meets the eye in his explanation of his draft status in the Vietnam era?

Has George Bush engaged in hanky-panky during the course of his marriage to Barbara, or was that just an ill-advised remark from Hillary Clinton, who, perhaps, shares Schoemehl's malady? Who knows?

Must we continue to follow the media soap opera from day to day? And just how important is all this, anyway?

Truth be told, no one of the candidates has really said much of anything of real importance yet.

According to polls taken among voters earlier this year, Americans in general are concerned about the deficit, the economy, health care, education and, to a somewhat lesser degree, ecology and the homeless.

Not one of the candidates has said anything substantive on any of these concerns. Every man jack of them lays claim to the solutions of all of these serious problems, but details of these solutions are as scarce as hen's teeth. They simply don't want to talk about it.

By now, it's become pretty apparent that the two major party nominees are going to be Bush and Clinton. But if exit polls taken during recent primaries, or, as believed, both of these fellows could find themselves in deep trouble if Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot decides to run as an independent.

Large percentages of Republicans emerge from the polling place shaking their heads and saying they voted for Bush, but they'd prefer someone else.

Democrats are saying they're in the same boat — voted for Clinton but wish someone else was on the ticket.

Voters from both parties are admitting they might jump ship and vote for Perot if he runs. They'd vote for a guy who, so far, has announced no more platform ideas than either of the two.

Additionally, the electorate is mad at both Congress and the Administration — some with one, some with the other, and some with both — so everyone is tippy-toeing around the real issues, running scared.

Except Perot, who's no more substantive than either of the others, but figures if they can get away with platitudes, so can he. He can spout God, mother, family values, the American way and apple pie just as fluently as either two. To date, that's what he's doing.

Character, we're being told, is the issue; that and: Who do you believe? Sadly, in defining character, honesty is being given short shrift, especially in the media itself.

Evasion, hedging, cover-up and outright lying have been the name of the game for so long — and on both sides of the fence — that an immense number of voters figure they've been sold down the river and believe none of the above. And would like to vote that way.

Well, the real campaign hasn't really begun and there's still time. I hope that, when it does, both (or all three, if that's the case) pay heed to something Sen. Bill Bradley said recently: "None of these candidates running this year — either Bush, Clinton, or Perot, if he runs — should be allowed to get through the campaign without explicitly telling the American people how they would reduce the budget deficit."

He also said that, although we'd spent $5 trillion winning the Cold War, we had still fallen behind both Japan and Germany in providing health care for our citizens, training workers and repairing public works.

Why isn't Bradley running?

Letters policy

The Granite City Press-Record/Journal welcomes letters to the editor. The newspaper provides the "Letters" column to give readers an opportunity to voice opinions on various items of interest.

Letters should be brief, preferably less than 10 paragraphs. Typed letters, or letters that are neatly written, are given priority treatment. Preference is also given to locally originated letters, but letters from outside the area are accepted.

Each letter must be signed and include the telephone number and address of the author. Only the name and city will be printed, but authors may be called for verification purposes.

The Granite City Press-Record/Journal reserves the right to edit letters to conform with the newspaper's standards of style, punctuation, grammar and spelling. Letters containing libel will not be used. The letter's tone or intention will not be changed.

State government officials also get many perks

(From Aurora Beacon-News)

What's good for the goose, generally, as the saying goes, is good for the gander as well.

It's no secret that, building on the ongoing check-kiting scandal in the U.S. House of Representatives, much attention also has focused on free parking, exclusive gymnasiums, no-cost prescription drugs, subsidized meals and other publicly financed benefits that also make up federal lawmakers' accoutrements of power.

What, however, about those public servants whose offices rest the state and not national level?

Well, it turns out that they, too, enjoy a few frills, although not nearly as many nor anywhere near as lavish as those which accrue to their loftier brethren.

In Illinois, the bulk of those extras go to the state's six constitutional officers: the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer and comptroller.

Since each constitutionally is mandated to maintain a residence in Springfield, the state historically has felt obligated to make everybody else pay the bill for providing it.

Never mind that revenue-producing private executives — the group to which revenue-eating public officials like to point when arguing their benefits are too low — generally accept that providing domicile for one's self and family is a personal obligation best met, if one's employment includes a change of address, by simply moving.

Thus, while it's easy to justify an Executive Mansion that not only passes from governor to governor but also serves as a focal point for genuinely public affairs of state, it becomes tougher to lay out hundreds of dollars a month to rent and, indeed, sometimes furnish abodes for the others.

Yet, that is what Illinois taxpayers currently do, forking over $1,052 and $1,395 for facilities and furniture to give both parties comfortable residences, to Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra and Secretary of State George Ryan in an exclusive residential area.

Attorney General Roland Burris, meanwhile, enjoys a tax-paid $845-a-month lease for a home on Lake Springfield, while Treasurer Dawn Clark Netsch let us off cheaper with respective monthly rents of $605 and $460 in a downtown apartment building that at least is readily accessible to the Capitol, located but across the street.

These constitutional officers also receive use of tax-paid second cars (most in private employment have to furnish their own) and also fly around in state-owned aircraft at the modest reimbursement rate of 35 cents a mile.

Legislators, meanwhile, get $79 per day — in addition to their base salaries of either $35,661 or $37,230, depending on when they were elected — for every day the General Assembly meets. And legislative leaders, from committee chairmen up, also receive annual "stipends" of from $5,000 to $16,000.

As is the case even with those who hold federal office, the total bill for all of the mini perks state officials enjoy amounts to less than a drop of taxpayer blood in a sea of budgetary red ink. And few taxpayers citizens likely would begrudge the expense — if, that is, they felt they were getting something of value in return.

Reality, however, is that public officials at all levels seem most adept only at taxing and spending without regard to either where the money comes from or the impact of its removal from the economic mainstream on that base of legitimate employment upon which all revenue depends.

So, until state officers, too, can see the trees through the fiscal forest, and make genuine efforts to manage a tax-wary public's affairs more responsibly, perhaps it's time to make their tax-funded perks a target of symbolic revolt as well.

Area's economy needs Saudi deal

TO THE EDITOR:

I, a citizen and taxpayer residing in the metro area, I feel an obligation to voice my opinion regarding the United States selling the F-15 fighter planes to Saudi Arabia.

The people of our area are getting ready for another old-fashioned kicking again. McDonnell Douglas has the best shot. Why not here, rather than England? Our country, community and local labor force need this.

Saudi Arabia will still get these planes, from another source. England has the best shot. Why not here, rather than England? Our country, community and local labor force need this.

Our elected officials apparently don't look past their own din-plates to see how tough things really are.

We pay our taxes for them to do a job that's best for us, but it doesn't seem to work that way. They say Saudi Arabia owes us money. Well, look who's talking.

We, ourselves, owe billions. Our pay gets smaller and their houses get bigger. Our "caring" officials should back this sale so that we may prosper, rather than another country.

I'm not yet starving, but a few more actions by our elected officials like this one they're about to make, and it's back to food stamps and welfare lines for the metro area.

Readers, call your representatives, senators, even the White House line, 1-202-456-1111, and let them know how we feel, employed or unemployed.

It's up to them. All we can do is let them know we are not going to take this lying face down in the mud.

I'm personally mad as I can be as citizens of this area should be, too.

Group is denied access to video

TO THE EDITOR:

The citizens group opposing the construction of the Eitam hazardous-waste plant in Granite

City was denied access last week to the video material filmed by the city for airing on the community-access channel.

The videotaped material is considered a public record and was included in a Freedom of Information request filed with the city by Kathy Andria on March 27.

Specifically requested last week were copies of the videotape of the public meeting held by the citizens on April 6 at Township Hall, which was taped by City employee David Williams, and the unedited version of the city's Eitam-financed trip to the Fernley, Nev., plant.

Williams and the city are editing the videotape for a documentary to be aired on Channel 18.

The citizens wanted to make their own Eitam documentary with a request for equal air-time with the city.

Williams early in the week said that he was unsure of all the rules governing citizens' access to the community-access channel.

He had no Federal Communications Commission manual for guidelines. A call to Cencom was directed back to Williams. In any event, Williams said, the citizens could not get copies of anything until he was finished with the material.

On Thursday Andria presented City Attorney Sue Bacon with five blank videocassettes, requesting that copies be provided and offering to do the copying herself.

Bacon refused to accept the videocassettes and would not allow Williams to see them.

Another Eitam opponent, Audrey Bolt, was present at the confrontation.

Time to upgrade trail in county

TO THE EDITOR:

The citizens who live along the Vandalabene Trail (also known as the Madison County Nature Trail) have been unanimous in their support for retaining and upgrading the trail.

They saw and understood the need for such public rights-of-way, and supported the use of them by everyone, from hikers to horsemen.

I take my hat off to all the individuals who attended the various village meetings, wrote letters to their congressmen, or otherwise pledged support for this project.

Special thanks also go to Denise Maxwell, whose unique drive has given her the ability to see the future.

Unfortunately, the job is not done yet.

We cannot forget that there are still things that must be done. A federal grant has been applied for and approval depends on how well the neighboring communities can work together.

Please continue to attend your village meetings and convince your local representatives how important it is for us to have a place to hike, bike, ride, etc., or just to get away for awhile.

Your support has brought the trail this far. Keep us the good work.

BAC board able and independent

TO THE EDITOR:

Mr. Ted Farmer (a trustee) is complaining that the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees is simply a "rubber stamp" for the college administration.

He is wrong. I am in a position to know that his complaint is without merit.

BAC is required to have a student trustee on its board. That person is elected by the student body. For the past year, I have been the student trustee.

During that time, I have observed the efforts of the Board of Trustees and the administration first-hand.

The trustees are a very independent group of people. They are not "yes men" for the administration. They are not even "yes men" for each other.

They make the policy decisions after a lot of discussion and the administration carries out the policy.

The administration works for the board. To claim otherwise would be simply untrue.

The last year has been a wonderful experience. If this helps help the public better understand BAC, then it may be both my last act as a trustee and the most important.

Pageant participants 'tell their side' of competition

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

For Rhonda Vest's Glitter Girls, the idea of putting on their sash and crown and going to school wearing heavy makeup and dressed in a formal lace and velvet dress is completely ridiculous.

"It would be as ridiculous as a football player wearing his helmet and uniform to school," said Evie Marsala, a KBP Productions Miss Illinois. "We just go to school like regular kids. Pageants are a way of having fun."

On cue, 7-year-old Evie can give a very animated, even mildly ribald, performance of Jerry Lee Lewis' "Great Balls of Fire." But prior to her command performance for a reporter, she had to clean Playdough off of her microphone.

mistreated somehow," Vest said. "They said it's not like that at all and said they wished they could tell their side."

So along with Marsala, Vest arranged to have Stephanie Robbins, 7, All-Star Overall; Lindsay Schinker, 7, Little Miss Illinois; Angela Brown, 15, Miss Lily of the Valley; Jamie Dickerman, 6, Miss Universal Charm; and Dawn Hunt, 15, Miss Heart of the Midwest, meet the press.

"Have I told anyone what to say?" Vest asked.

"No!"

"Have any of you been forced to compete in a pageant?"

"No!" "Of course not!"

"Pageants are fun!"

"Are there girls who are forced to be in pageants?" Vest asked.

That question was followed with a jumble of six affirmative examples — horror stories — of girls they had seen in tears at pageants who were obviously being forced by a parent, usually a mother, to compete.

"It happens," Vest said.

"There are mothers who drag their daughter, crying, kicking and screaming 'I don't want to, I don't want to,' into the building. But those are really in the minority."

And, Vest said, those children don't win. She said much of winning involves intangibles that convince the judges that the girl is happy with who she is and enjoys sharing that with people.

"These are the girls who come out staring at their feet and mumbling their answers. They never make it through the first round," Vest said. Then their mothers complain the contest was fixed.

Still, everyone who enters most local-level contests wins something and Vest admitted some mothers proudly take those "attendance prizes" home pageant after pageant, year after year.

"They're not fooling anyone," Stephanie said. "Those (attendance prize) kind don't mean anything."

"If you didn't have to work for it, it's no fun," Evie said.

"Nobody wins every contest they enter."

"Of course you're disappointed if you don't win," Angela said.

"But it doesn't mean you're a loser. Maybe it just wasn't your day. And you feel happy for the person who did win."

Being the same age, Stephanie, Evie and Lindsay often are in competition against each other. Still, they are good friends and often travel together to pageants.

Travel, the Glitter Girls said, is a big reason they compete in pageants. In the past year they have traveled to a large number of cities including Chicago and Nashville.

"Sometimes the trip is better than the pageant," Lindsay said.

"It's fun just going places and doing things."

"And being with friends," Jamie said. "And meeting new people."

Making friends, the Glitter Girls said, is another thing that makes pageants fun.

"I still get letters from people I met at pageants," Dawn said.

"These are people I would never have met if I hadn't been competing."

On the other hand, travel, dresses and entry fees can get expensive and, in addition to getting sponsors, the Glitter Girls hold fund raising events. They share everything from dresses to music and parents may take turns driving to pageants.

In addition to competing in pageants, the Glitter Girls march together in parades and give free performances at senior citizen functions, nursing homes and other places.

"These six are only part of it," Vest said. "I could get together a hundred or more and they'll tell you the same thing."

At age 15, Dawn is reaching the end of the time she will be competing in pageants. Although she would like to go on and become a model, "I know I'm too short. It wouldn't be a realistic wish."

Still, Dawn said she wouldn't trade her experience in pageants. And if someday she has a daughter, she said she would probably encourage her daughter to consider competition.

"It helps you in so many ways," Dawn said. "Look at Jamie and the way she's able to express herself. How many children her age can do that? She's just a terrific kid. And I think learning and competing in pageants had a lot to do with it."

YOUTH FOCUS:

What phrase do you hate to hear your parents say? (and asked of parents)... What is the least favorite phrase kids say to parents?

(Asked of students at Coolidge Junior High School, Madison Middle School and Venice School.)

Angela Nemeth, Coolidge
"The least favorite phrase my mom says to me is 'Because I said.' Her mother, Peggy Soechtig says that her least favorite phrase Angela says to her is, 'chill out'."

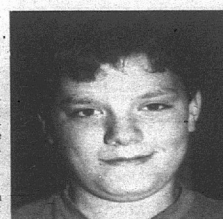

Beth Baker, Madison
Her least favorite phrase from her mother, Victoria Baker is: "Did you do your homework?" and "I told you so."

James Woody, Venice
Woody really hates to hear "Let's clean up the house." His mother, Melba Maple says her least favorite phrase is: "But I thought..."

Crystal Branham, Coolidge
Branham hates to hear "Let's not and say we did." From her parents, Her mother Della Guithus says that her least favorite phrase Crystal says to her is, "saying NOT after every statement she makes."

Heather Withers, Madison
"Go to your room. Your grounded." are her most unfavorable phrases. Her parents, Mike and Mary Kamez say their least favorite phrase is "I didn't do it and I'll clean my room later."

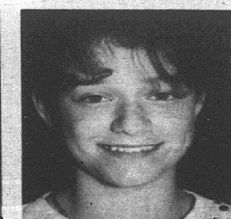

Candice Noblin, Venice
Noblin says she hates to hear "The dishes better be done when I get back." Her mother, Patricia Noblin says her least favorite phrase is: "But Mom I am only 13."

Horowitz piano to be used in SIUE concerts

The Steinway concert grand piano used extensively in performances by the late Vladimir Horowitz, one of this century's greatest piano virtuosos, will be featured in performances at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on May 9-10 in Lovejoy Library.

Several events are scheduled in the auditorium, centered around the piano, which is currently on a two-year, 75-city tour of the United States.

The schedule:
 11:30 a.m. Saturday, May 9 — Composer/pianist Michael Carter will premiere a suite for piano. Admission is $3; children under 12, no admission charge.
 2 p.m. Saturday — A flute master class for college and high school flutists will be conducted by Cathy Chastin. Admission $5 and $3.

5:15 p.m. Saturday — Students from the studio of Dan Vizer in Granite City will perform a recital.
 7 p.m. Saturday — Pianist Marie Garrington, an associate professor of music at Principia College in Elmhurst, will perform music of women composers. Admission is $5 and $3.
 8:30 p.m. Saturday — Music alumnae of SIUE will perform. Admission is $5 and $3.

2:30 p.m. Sunday, May 10 — Students of the Gateway Arch East Chapter of the Illinois State Music Teachers Association will perform in an honors recital. Admission is $3; children under 12, no charge.
 4 p.m. Sunday — A gala Horowitz celebration with Ruth Slenczynska, SIUE music professor emerita and internationally renowned pianist, Slenczynska, a personal friend of Horowitz and his wife, will present a talk about the pianist.

In addition, several pieces will be performed: Copland's "Duo for Flute and Piano" and Mozart's "Trio for Clarinet, Viola and Piano" as well as Doppler's "Andante and Rondo for Two Flutes and Piano" and tuba works to be announced.

Performers include pianists Kirk Pavitt and Delana Thomsen; mezzosoprano Brenda Warren Winnick; flutists Laura Campbell, Kathy Chastin, and Janet Scott; clarinetist James Krawitz; tubaist David Unland; and violist Susannah Woodard. Admission is $5 and $3. A reception follows immediately.
 8 p.m. Sunday — Alumnae of the Jazz Studies Program at SIUE will perform on the piano. Admission is $5 and $3.

Slenczynska will also be featured at the Horowitz piano in an 8 p.m. Thursday, May 14, concert in the Sheldon Concert Hall in St. Louis.

The Horowitz piano was constructed in the early 1940s and remained in the pianist's home for several years.
 It was then used for public concerts Horowitz performed in the United States and abroad and for his recording sessions. It is a standard Steinway concert grand, scrupulously maintained for the pianist's use.

After Horowitz's death, the piano was used in performances and recordings by other pianists. The instrument's visits in the St. Louis area have been made possible through the Ludwig Aeolian Piano Exchange of St. Louis.

For more information, persons may call the SIUE department of music, 692-3900.

Toll free' number results in fraud charges

Not all toll-free telephone numbers are free, according to a state lawsuit against a Dallas company accused of billing consumers who used its 800 number.

Illinois Attorney General Roland Burris is suing Allied Marketing Inc. for violating this state's deceptive-business-practices law by charging nearly $16 each for calls advertised as toll-free.

"If they want to litigate this, we'll take them to the wall," Burris said.

As many as 66 Illinois residents have called the attorney general about Allied's phone scheme, Burris said.

Also named in the suit is Sweepstakes Clearinghouse, which Allied owns. The subsidiary mailed postcards informing people they had won two of three prizes and could claim them through an 800 number.

People who called the toll-free number listed on the card were asked to mail a letter or stay on the line to learn about their prize. They then were charged $3.90 a minute.

People actually "won" $200 coupons that could be used to purchase overpriced merchandise from the company, Burris said.

Those who stayed on the line received a bill, designed like a phone bill, that warned of interest charges for late payment and implied that failure to pay would result in loss of phone service.

Burris said the operation violated state laws because consumers were not given proper notice of the charges or an accurate description of services.

County avoids multiplier

Madison County has been issued a final property assessment equalization factor of 1.000 (no county multiplier), according to Douglas L. Whitley, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

To avoid a multiplier, the county set assessment multipliers for its 24 townships.

The real estate assessment equalization factor is the method used to achieve uniform property valuations among counties, as required by law.

Equalization is considered particularly important because some of the state's 6,600 local taxing districts overlap into two or more counties. These include school districts, community college districts, sanitary districts and fire protection districts. If there was no equalization among counties, substantial inequities among taxpayers with comparable properties would result.

Without township multipliers, the same type of inequities could occur in taxing districts that overlap into two or more townships.

Under a law passed in 1975, property in Illinois must be assessed at one-third of its "full, fair market value."

Farm property is assessed differently, with farm homesites and dwellings subject to regular assessments and equalization procedures, but with farmland assessed at one-third of its agricultural economic value. Farmland is assessed to the state equalization factor.

Assessments of Madison County are at 33.29 percent of market value, based on sales of properties in 1988, 1989 and 1990. The equalization factor currently being assigned is for 1991 taxes, payable in 1992. Last year's equalization factor for Madison County also was 1.000, as it has been for a number of years.

The final assessment equalization factor was issued after a public hearing on the tentative factor. The tentative factor issued in October 1991 was 1.0290.

The factor is determined annually for each county by comparing the price of individual properties sold over the past three years to the assessed value placed on those properties by the county supervisor of assessments.

If this three-year average level of assessment is one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be one.

If the average level of assessment is greater than one-third of market value, the factor will be less than one. And if the average level of assessment is less than one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be greater than one.

A change in the equalization factor does not mean total property tax bills will increase or decrease.

Tax bills are determined by local taxing bodies when they request money each year to provide services to local citizens. If the amount requested (levied) by local taxing districts is not greater than the amount received in the previous year, then total property taxes will not increase even if assessments increase.

The assessed value of an individual property determines what portion of the tax burden a specific taxpayer will assume. That individual's portion of tax responsibility is not changed by the multiplier.

County offices continue move

More Madison County offices are expected to begin moving to the county's new administration building next week.

Barring unexpected problems, work on the $17 million building will be substantially complete by Monday, Marty Siglock, the county's construction supervisor, told the County Board's Buildings Committee.

Already in the new building are the offices of the board, county clerk, treasurer and Veterans Assistance Commission.

Armed Forces Day open house here

The 1992 Greater St. Louis Armed Forces Day will be celebrated with a public open house on Friday and Saturday at the Army's Melvin Price Support Center in Granite City.

The open house will feature military displays and demonstrations. Public viewing hours are Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Highlighting the displays will be "state of the art" helicopters, including an Apache, Cobra, Blackhawk and Huey.

Weather permitting, demonstrations will include parachute jumps by Air Force teams Friday at 1:45 p.m. and 4:15 p.m. and Saturday at 10:15 a.m. and 2:15 p.m.

Other displays will feature modern military equipment, some of it from Operation Desert Storm.

There will be an extensive display of historic military vehicles, weaponry and memorabilia, sponsored by the Armed Forces Museum of St. Louis. The historical exhibits will cover World War II, Korea, Vietnam and Desert Storm. On display for the first time will be the Museum's HU-1 Huey helicopter that saw duty in the Vietnam war as a gunship.

K-9 team demonstrations are scheduled for Friday at 3:30 p.m. and Saturday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

There will be demonstration firing of historic weapons, using blank ammunition.

Admission is free and all displays will be open to the public. Refreshments will be available. No coolers are to be brought by the public.

•Venice

Officers called for additional help and returned to clear the area. Bottles were still being thrown toward officers upon their return from checking activity at the rear of the Venice Garden Apartments.

Alphonse Williams, 27, of the 1100 block of Bissell Street in Venice was arrested on Weaver Street and charged with disturbing the peace, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Reginald Beasley, 18, of East St. Louis was charged at 5:20 p.m. Friday with aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon and having no firearm owner identification card.

Police had been dispatched to the 400 block of Selb Street on a report of shots being fired. Beasley allegedly had a rifle that he used to shoot toward a car leaving the area.

Police are seeking suspects involved in an incident at 10:30 p.m. Friday, when a crowd damaged the auto of Daniel and Lori Munoz of Fairmont City.

The couple had been traveling south on Illinois 3, leaving West Granite City after visiting relatives. They turned east from Illinois 3 onto Bissell Street, mistakenly thinking it was Broadway.

Police next turned north on Weaver Street in an attempt to circle back, and entered the intersection of Weaver Street and Logan Avenue, where a man approached their vehicle with a handgun and fired it an undetermined number of times into the right rear window of the car.

An estimated 60 persons surrounded the vehicle, some striking it with bottles and rocks while kicking and hitting the car.

Lori Munoz told police the crowd was shouting, "Kill her. Kill her."

The couple was able to flee in their vehicle, returning to Granite City.

Echols said Tuesday night, "Without question the acquittal of officers after beating Rodney King was a catalyst for unrest in many cities."

"No man should be treated like that, no matter what his color. There is no reason for it, and yet the fools attempted to justify it."

"An incident like that is certainly going to have an impact and stir emotions."

"This happened in a court of law the same way as it should have been the night before and thought that decision would have been made," Echols said.

Alderman Williams noted that the summer of 1991 brought a reduction of criminal activity in Venice, but warned that last week's incidents could be a sign of things to come if there is inaction by leaders.

Police urged residents to forward to things like that to happen with people hanging out and nothing to do. We need a plan of action as a council to network with parents, youths, churches and organizations to prevent this from happening."

"We had better plan on something and come up with some answers for the youths in the area. Otherwise, we'll have kids on the street at 1 a.m. and 2 a.m. and nothing is going to stop it," Williams said.

Alderman Franklin downplayed the incidents.

"It is normal for the youths to get excited when the hot weather comes," Franklin said. "I do not think it was related to the Rodney King incident. I believe it was a one-time thing."

Venice officials said they continue to be concerned over illegal drug activity and its effect on the community.

About 12 youths have been hired by the city for the demolition of three abandoned houses, which had been used for drug transactions in the past, Mayor Echols said.

Alderman Williams will lead Project Clean-up annual Venice March Against Drugs, to be expanded this year to include protests against violence and street gangs.

The march will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, May 30, starting at the New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., and proceeding along Klein to Broadway for a rally at the Venice Public Library.

PET OF THE WEEK

"BO-BO"

BoBo is an 11 month old neutered male. He was abandoned along the roadside making his way down the road with only three legs. BoBo is a beautiful white mix breed that doesn't seem to mind his condition. To adopt BoBo call the A.P.A. at 931-7030 or visit the shelter at 5000 Old Alton Road.

Warriors resurrected after Good Friday loss

The low point of the Warrior baseball season came on Good Friday.

A 12-4 loss to Cahokia was Granite City's third loss in four games and dropped them to 6-4. Disciplinary action on two of the team's best pitchers was about to come down.

The Warriors were set to go in either of two directions. They went up...and up.

Drake Marshall and Brent Dippel were back in uniform Wednesday, but it would be hard to say the rest of the team missed them all that much. Granite City went 9-1 in that stretch and scored an average of seven runs a game.

"Right now everyone is happy," said coach Bob Stegemeier. "The players will have no problem accepting Brent, and they have to realize Drake will make our pitching staff that much better."

Before the season, Stegemeier envisioned Marshall as his top pitcher and Dippel the potential No. 2 man. With them on the commission, juniors Joe Rieser and Ben Hicks have taken over. They are a combined 10-1 already. Scott LeVautier and Darin Hendrickson combined to win 17 games in 1987, but they were already seniors.

If Marshall and Dippel come back throwing well — and Marshall is scheduled to start in today's big conference game at Belleville East — the Warriors will be loaded on the mound. Rieser, Hicks and Marshall would be a formidable starting staff, with Chad Dooley and Dippel the top relievers. Jeff Ridenour and Brett Barron have performed admirably in spot roles.

The pitching doesn't have to be spectacular when the offense is going like this. The Warriors have scored at least four runs in every game but one since being shut out by Belleville East on April 14. Granite City has an amazing 18 triples in 20 games.

Marshall might have a tough time finding a spot on the infield when he isn't pitching. Marc Patton, Les Nunes and John Cozar are all doing the job. Nunes' average isn't real high, but he's making all the plays at shortstop. And Chris Hildreth has been a revelation at first base.

Catcher Jeff Luffman is providing plenty of offense in the cleanup spot, while designated hitter Bill Herman continues to sizzle. Outfielders Ridenour, Jason Maxfield and Billy Van Euskerk are getting their hits and Dooley is also a weapon with his bat as well as his arm.

Soccer sectional: The Lady Warriors will be the top seed as they try to defend the Granite City Sectional title at the end of this month. Seedings were made Tuesday night. Collinsville, Springfield and Alton were the 2-4 seeds. Granite City (13-1) will play either No. 16 Lutheran East or No. 17 Springfield. Lanthier in the first round. Pairings will be announced later. The semifinals and finals are at Memorial Stadium on May 30 and June 2. The state tournament is at Naperville Central High School on June 5-6.

No time to lose: The Granite City School Board knows it has to move fairly quickly to name a football coach to replace Tom Wyrostek. Summer is fast approaching, and Aug. 17 is the first day of practice.

The job could be posted outside the district, but the guess here is the new coach will come from within. Possibilities include Don Harris, Larry Curry and Darren DeWay.

Wyrostek was a great coach, no doubt about it. But not having him as coach will make the sportswriters' jobs a little easier. Dealing with the media was not one of Tom's strong points, and I'm sure he would agree.

It's not exactly the top priority, but we can hope the new coach is comfortable in that role. It doesn't take all that much time and it really helps in promoting the team.

A Bone to pick: The Collinsville School Board selected Kahok basketball coach Bob Bone on Monday to succeed the retiring Frank Pitot as the high school athletic director. Bone will continue his coaching duties. Pitot retires at the end of the school year. Bone, 37, was the athletic director of Central Junior College in Union, Mo., for six years before coming home in 1986. He has coached the Kahoks to six conference titles and led them to state playoffs. He was picked over eight other candidates.

Oh, what a relief Dooley comes on to lead red-hot Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

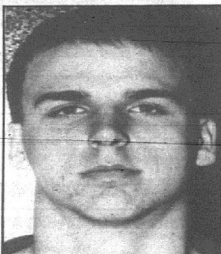

Bob Stegemeier was quick using the hook on Joe Rieser on Tuesday. But once again, his players — Chad Dooley in particular — made him look like a genius.

Dooley pitched 5½ innings of spectacular relief as the Warriors knocked off Alton 7-2 in a Southwestern Conference game at Varsity Field. Granite City improved to 15-5 overall and 4-2 in Southwestern Conference play. That puts them in a triple tie for the league lead with Belleville East and West. Alton fell to 12-10 overall and 2-4 in league play.

Junior Joe Rieser came into the game with a 6-1 record, and led 2-0 in the second inning without allowing a hit. But after three walks loaded the bases with one out, Stegemeier went and got him.

"I just didn't like the way Joe was throwing," said Stegemeier. "He worked 14 hours Sunday because he has to, and he was still tired from that. I felt we would be a little better off with Chad."

That's an understatement. Until the seventh inning, Dooley didn't let the Redbirds hit the ball out of the infield with the exception of Jim McGibany's single in the third. That was Alton's only hit until two infield hits, an error and a bloop single plated two consolation runs in the seventh.

Those were the first — and last — runs the Redbirds scored against the Warriors this year. Rieser and Dooley combined to shut them out 1-0 last week.

"We're happy as heck just to get some runs against Granite City," said Alton manager Scott Posey. "We usually swing the bats well, but Granite City did a great job pitching against us."

Dooley didn't walk anybody and allowed only four hits. Only McGibany's harmless hit in the third was a clean hit. Dooley (2-2) struck out Josh Steinman and got Drew Munson on a ground ball which second baseman Marc Patton made a nice play on to bail Rieser out in the second inning. Dooley threw five strikes without a ball in that sequence.

"As good a hitter as Chad can be, we need his arm more than his bat right now," said Stegemeier. "I thought he was a very

Big weekend on tap for Hall

Twenty-one foursomes have entered the annual Granite City Sports Hall of Fame golf scramble scheduled for Friday at The Legacy.

It's the beginning of a week-end of activities, highlighted also by the Hall of Fame induction dinner Friday evening and the Hall of Fame building dedication Saturday morning.

Lee Thompson is the manager for the golf tournament. He said a hole-in-one on the 17th hole will give the lucky winner a new Chevrolet from Butch Peterson Chevrolet-Buick-Geo in Salem. The golfer closest to the pin on the 6th hole will receive $100.

Other prizes: Best round, $120; second place, $80; third place, $60; fourth place, four golf shirts; fifth place, four golf caps.

The first tee time is 7 a.m., with the final foursome scheduled to tee off at 10:20.

The banquet is slated to begin at 6 p.m. at St. Gregory's Hall on Fontoon Road, with dinner starting at 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 each and are still available. Call der named Norm Stewart, who came back to Mizou to coach basketball in 1967 and hasn't left yet.

Cook's first victory in that 1954 tournament was 2-1 over Massachusetts. It was a must win because Mizou had lost to Rollins (Fla.) College in the double elimination tournament. Cook pitched a complete game. He also pitched the final game against Rollins, and defeated them 4-1.

Cook allowed only two earned runs with 15 strikeouts and three walks in the two games, retiring 15 of the last 16 Rollins batters in the championship game. In three years with the Tigers, Cook had a 1.77 earned run average, the third best in school history.

Cook earned a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering in 1957. After a brief stint in pro ball, he used that degree and his chief engineer for Big River Zinc in Saugeat.

On to Barcelona Local cyclist qualifies for Olympics with blind partner

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Liz Heller will be going to Barcelona, Spain, for her summer vacation, but not for rest and relaxation.

The four-time Missouri state bicycling champion will be representing the United States in tandem cycling competition in the Summer Olympics along with blind Los Angeles cyclist Greg Evangelatos.

The couple finished first in Heller's introductory competition to tandem cycling April 28-29 against four other couples at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Lake Placid, N.Y.

"It surprised me how well we did," said Heller. "I expected real problems competing against a blind woman and sighted man. I knew they would be tough, and they were."

The couple bicycled 100 miles over two days. On the first day, there was a 25-mile race against the clock where the couple finished in one hour and six seconds, the best time by a margin of one minute and 40 seconds.

The race on Wednesday involved a mass start, continuing for 75 miles against the other four couples. Heller and Evangelatos completed the race in just over three hours, finishing well in front of the competition.

Both races were on concrete-surfaced country roads. Everything appeared to work out from the beginning, Heller said, adding that the two climbed hill areas well together as well as traversing straightaways.

"Greg has no pain threshold," said Heller. "You have to peel him off the bike. He is a competitor and is always screaming, 'Faster.'"

Yates signs with Lambuth U.

Senior Damon Yates of the Warrior football team will attend Lambuth University in Jackson, Tenn., on a football and academic scholarship.

Yates (5-11, 185 pounds) was a first-team all-Southwestern Conference running back as the 1991 GCHS football team went 8-2 and qualified for the state playoffs. He had 765 rushing yards and 890 total yards. Yates also played defensive back. He was the most valuable offensive player as a sophomore.

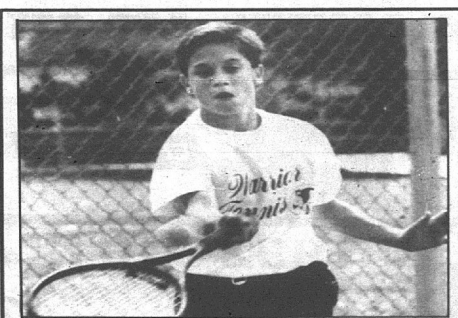

Lambuth is an NAIA Division II school coached by Jim Hardegree, and the Eagles play in the Mid-South Conference.

Yates has a 4.4 grade point average and ranks 73rd in a class of 100. He was the Homecoming King last fall and is a member of the National Honor

Damon Yates

Society, the Varsity Club and the student council. He has also participated in basketball and was a two-year letterwinner in track. Yates, the son of Ron and Carolyn Yates, wants to pursue a career in physical therapy.

Returnable — Chris Mitchell of the Warrior tennis team returns a shot during a recent match. Granite City plays at Wood River today and will host sectional competition in two weeks.

Bequette, USCS Lady Rifles shooting to kill in Division II

Michelle Bequette of Granite City was named to the All-Peach Belt Athletic Conference softball team recently.

Bequette, a sophomore catcher, is batting .348 with 32 RBIs for the University of South Carolina at Spartanburg. The Lady Rifles (38-7) are ranked 10th in the NCAA Division II poll and won the PBAC tournament in three straight games. Bequette, an all-Southwestern Conference catcher in high school, was also named to the all-PBAC Tournament team after batting .286 with three RBIs and a double in the tournament.

Bequette, a 1990 graduate of Granite City High School, has 10 doubles, four triples and a home run this year. She was selected to the all-conference team as an all-star pitcher.

USCS had eight players on the 15-member all-conference team after going 12-0 in league play.

Michelle Bequette

Lady Rifles coach Rick Bertagnoli, the former coach at Burlington Hill High School, was named coach of the year. USCS was to find out this week if it was selected to play in the 16-team NCAA Division II tournament which begins Saturday.

Dooley

good three-inning pitcher, but he proved he can go longer than that today."

Meanwhile, the Warriors muscled up on offense again. Six of their 11 hits went for extra bases against Redbird starter Dana Hansen. Jason Maxfield started it with an inside-the-park home run with one out in the first. Bill Herman almost duplicated that, but Stegemeier held him up half way around third and he was tagged out trying to get back. But Jeff Luffman doubled and scored on a throwing error by Munson at shortstop after Jeff Ridenour's infield hit.

Chris Hildreth doubled over first base to score another run in the fourth, then John Cozair tripped and scored on Hildreth's hit to start a four-run sixth. Two walks loaded the bases before Luffman emptied them with a triple to left-center.

"Hansen has great stuff, but everything is right over the plate," said Posey. "He can't be such a nice guy. He has to throw inside and jam hitters a little. He did that to the very first batter and then didn't do it again."

"That's a pitcher who has had success against some very good teams," said Stegemeier. "But he doesn't get ahead and then he probably does make his pitches too good. We're just ripping the ball against everybody."

Heller

Despite the win, the couple still faces some difficulties, Heller said, noting there is room for improvement.

"We must work better together and continue to work on our communication," she said. "If we get out of sync, the bike goes every which way, making it difficult for me to control. You figure everything will be OK until you're under competition."

A number system was used to communicate with Evangelatos during the races, but was not entirely successful.

"I had to let him know at which effort level we were before I could tell him which level (we needed) to obtain," she said.

Heller said there were early equipment problems with the specialized shifting mechanism.

"I need to become a better mechanic because I'm used to having people be a mechanic for me," she said. "I have to check out the shifting gears, the tires. There are a lot of cables on a tandem bicycle, and the sighted individual has to keep an eye on every bolt."

Riding with a blind person on a tandem cycle while being clocked can be exhausting.

"I need to learn (more precisely) when to help him," Heller said.

But finding time to practice could be the largest problem facing the couple now. Heller is an associate attorney in the Granite City law offices of Bono, Goldenberg, Hopkins and Billary.

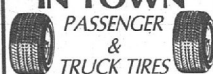

"My time is limited," she said. "It will kind of depend on when I can get away from work or he can come to St. Louis."

Just to be at the Olympic Training Center was exciting, Heller said, but to qualify for the Olympics is a dream come true.

"It's the ultimate goal of anyone who has ever competed in sport," Heller said. "It's a different way of getting there, but I feel as much a part of the Summer Olympics as anybody else."

The full excitement of representing her country in worldwide competition hasn't hit her yet.

"It probably will not hit me until I get over there," she said. "I'm thrilled just to have the opportunity to go, but Greg will not be satisfied unless we win it all. Right now, I'm afraid the European teams may chew us up and spit us out. But I also remember thinking it would be a miracle if we won at Lake Placid."

Randy Stange

SLU assistant coach
at Y banquet tonight

Randy Stange, the first assistant coach hired by new St. Louis University basketball coach Charlie Spoonhour, will be the keynote speaker at the annual YMCA banquet tonight at the Elks Hall on Maryville Road.

"This appears to be the beginning of an exciting era in SLU basketball," said Mike Bilbrey, chairman of the board of directors of the YMCA. "We are very pleased to be able to present our speaker this year a man who will be in on the ground floor of what I predict will become a basketball dynasty."

Stange was an assistant under Spoonhour the last five years at Southwest Missouri State.

Stange was an all-state basketball player at Nickerson (Kan.) High School and was the first player recruited by Spoonhour at SMSU in 1982. He started at guard in 51 of 57 games for two years, leading the Bears in free throw accuracy both years and setting single season (.909) and career (.855) records. He also shot 56 percent from the floor.

The banquet is open to the public. Tickets are $10 and must be obtained in advance. For more information, call the YMCA at 876-7200.

Lucy Simon scores with 'Secret Garden'

By Frank Hunter
Correspondent

At age 48, singer-composer Lucy Simon is mellow than a harvest moon.

A sturdy 25-year marriage to successful Manhattan psychoanalyst David Levine led to a couple of attractive children, an Upper West Side Manhattan apartment and a host of interesting friends. Daughter Julie, 22, a Yale University cum laude graduate in the humanities still lives with her parents, studies music like mad and yearns to become a rock singer like aunt Carly. Son James, a 20-year-old University of Wisconsin student, is "a delicious kid who hasn't the slightest idea what he wants to do with his life, but he's awfully smart," Simon says.

Finally, there's Lucy Simon herself, daughter of Andrea and Richard Simon (her father was co-founder of the publishing house of Simon and Schuster), and a composer of note who wrote the elegant score for the Tony Award winning musical hit "The Secret Garden." The Munny is bringing this musical to the Fox Theatre through May 10, a production with a score on tape that has sold more than 100,000 copies.

Simon's musical heritage is deep — three uncles were prominent singers and musicologists and "The Secret Garden" offers a strong classic story with music that any proud uncle would applaud.

There is a civilized adaptation of Frances Hodgson Burnett's 1911 novel that looks at sophisticated Edwardian life and is appealing to adults and fascinating for children. An eloquent translation from the original novel is staged by Broadway's first all-female creative team. Her collaborators include Heidi Landesman, designer of the allegorical, imagistic setting based on a child's toy theater; director Susan Schulman, who conjures up wraith-like dreams of childhood with the speed of a Merlin unleashed; and librettist-lyricist Marsha Norman, whose extraordinary script highlights two troubled children and a number of well-intentioned, doltish adults.

"...when Marsha Norman and Heidi Landesman asked me to do the score, I knew I could handle it because I was so familiar with the material."

— Lucy Simon

Landesman, designer of the allegorical, imagistic setting based on a child's toy theater; director Susan Schulman, who conjures up wraith-like dreams of childhood with the speed of a Merlin unleashed; and librettist-lyricist Marsha Norman, whose extraordinary script highlights two troubled children and a number of well-intentioned, doltish adults.

Simon's father Richard was a gifted amateur pianist headed for the concert stage. "But," his daughter recalls, "he went into publishing because his father said, 'Son, you'll never make any money playing the piano; go into business.'"

"Since books were his other love, and he was very canny about what was truly readable, he had a sixth sense about reader preferences. He had a motto at Simon and Schuster: 'Give

The Reader A Break' which meant 'don't make it too tough for a reader to enjoy a particular book you're getting ready to publish. He just had good publishing horse sense, I guess.'"

Her father's partner and college friend, Max Schuster, also loved books "but he was the business genius whereas my father was more skilled in the artistic areas," Simon said. "He instinctively knew which authors would appeal to readers, and teaming up with Max Schuster was an ideal blend of those divergent skills that paid off."

English writer Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Secret Garden" attracted Simon as a worthwhile project despite its complexities.

"And when Marsha Norman and Heidi Landesman asked me to do the score, I knew I could handle it because I was so familiar with the material," Simon said.

Inspired by the classic Frances Hodgson Burnett novel, the story is achingly Edwardian. A young girl is sent off to live on her uncle's vast estate on the English moors in 1906 and discovers a secret walled garden. Her loving care and attention brings the garden to life, healing her own spiritual wounds and those of the people living in her uncle's Victorian manse.

As she departs for a television interview, a reporter wonders whether Lucy Simon's relationship with her two talented sisters, mezzo-soprano Joanna and soft-rockers Carly, has been fiercely competitive through the years.

"Well, of course," Lucy admits. "But the battles were mainly robust, healthy, and based on creative issues rather than personal ones. How could it be otherwise? How can there be siblings without rivalry?"

YMCA swimming classes set to start

The Tri-City Area YMCA will begin a new three-week session of swimnastics and arthritis classes the week of May 11.

SWIMNASTICS is offered from 9-9:45 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. This is an excellent water exercise class for housewives, senior citizens, grandparents, anyone wanting to have fun in the water. The program is conducted in shallow water; you do not have to know how to swim.

ARTHRITIS offered from 11-11:45 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. An excellent exercise class for all people having arthritis to use their joints, and muscles. It's fun for all who participate.

The YMCA is a United Way agency. For more information call 876-7200.

Old Six Mile Museum to reopen

Members of Old Six Mile have furnished "Spring House Cleaning" at the museum at 3279 Maryville and it will be ready for re-opening from a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 16.

There will be a Mini Craft Show and Flea Market on the grounds. Tours and food will be available.

Starting May 17 tours of the museum will be conducted every Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Special tours for 10 or more are available at anytime by making arrangements with George Engle, at 831-3023.

Changing roles of mothers to be celebrated

Americans will celebrate Mother's Day on May 10 with a broadened definition of "motherhood," says Don Tschannen of Jan's Hallmark Shop, a Hallmark Gold Crown store in Crossroads Plaza, Granite City.

Hallmark's more than 1,200 Mother's Day card designs reflect the changing nature of motherly relationships, he said.

"The word 'mother' no longer conjures up visions of a kitchen-bound woman wearing an apron and baking cookies in a big, tidy kitchen," Tschannen said.

"While most moms still bake cookies, many of them work outside the home, manage extended families or are single parents."

"Cards addressed to 'Mother' or 'Mom' remain best-sellers, but a growing number are for other mothers, including stepmothers, those who are 'like a mother,' female relatives or child-care providers."

"A card for someone like a mother says, 'Thanks for all the kindness, the thoughtfulness you've shown; thanks for always treating me as if I were your own.'"

"Mother's Day cards even include grandmother's. 'One Shoebox Greeting card, for example, reads: 'Mother's Day. Grandma. Why not let that thing you enjoy so much? Show my picture to complete strangers.'"

In addition to an assortment of Mother's Day cards, Hallmark Gold Crown stores offer fresh-cut flower bouquets especially for Mother's Day.

According to Tschannen, the bouquets will be available several days before Mother's Day.

Gold Crown stores have earned Hallmark designation as outstanding Hallmark stores and are recertified yearly.

Baby welfare bill will be reintroduced

SPRINGFIELD — Sen. Frank Watson isn't letting a defeat stop him from pushing a bill that would put restrictions on welfare mothers who continue to have babies.

His reworked proposal will be brought before a Senate committee within the next two weeks.

The bill was defeated last week by the Public Health, Welfare and Corrections Committee which deadlocked 7-7 almost entirely along party lines. The only Democrat voting for the bill was Frank Savickas of Chicago.

Watson, R-Greenville, has said his bill would eliminate the $100 incentive for welfare mothers to have children because they want $50 to $100 more a month.

"If anyone voted for it, they should be ashamed of themselves," said Watson, executive director of the Public Welfare Coalition of Chicago. "Anyone who has raised kids knows that it's like to have money eliminated."

"I'm not trying to hurt people," Watson argued. "I am trying to help people help themselves. This is a myth. Money at poverty level we've been doing for generations. A new direction and philosophy is needed."

"I am afraid in a lot of cases the money isn't being used for the children anyway," he said.

Similar proposals have been introduced in other states, most recently in Wisconsin, which got the bill from President George Bush. The Wisconsin proposal would include a pilot program to restrict aid for welfare mothers and encourage single parents to marry to stay off welfare.

A federal waiver is required for such proposals because half of AFDC money comes from the federal government.

Watson's bill has capped monthly aid to welfare mothers at $479. A single woman with one child now gets $259 a month, about $100 for a second child and $53 for each child after that.

A proposal that did pass the Wisconsin Legislature, dubbed the "learnfare bill," would reduce public aid to families which include a school dropout. It depended on 8-3, had been introduced in previous sessions.

Head Start program has openings

By Amber M. Rogers
Correspondent

A neon sign that blinks "no vacancy" is not actually visible in any of the area Head Start preschool programs, but most centers do not have space for new students for the upcoming school year.

Waiting lists are the norm for Head Start, but in Edwardsville the situation is different.

The Edwardsville Head Start has eight vacancies, and the director of the programs wants parents of preschoolers who qualify for participation to know that it is not too late to register children for the upcoming school year if they act quickly.

"Granite City has spaces for 128 children, and there is already a waiting list the same size for the upcoming school year."

A new Edwardsville center just opened in February, and some people don't know we are there. We want to sign them up now for next year, said Chuck Paar, director of the Head Start program.

Head Start is a preschool program for children, ages 3 and 4, from low-income, economically disadvantaged families, Paar said.

"Basically, it is really a matter of having those who sign up before the fall. We have had people who come in during December to register their child for fall, so they have a chance to get in, except in Edwardsville," he said.

Paar said he believes the vacancies in Edwardsville exist because some parents in Edwardsville do not yet realize that a center has even been started. He said a waiting list will eventually be created as the center becomes known, he said.

Head Start operates like a public school, with terms running from September to May, and the school day is similar to any preschool, said Theresa Crutis, the center supervisor and a teacher at the Edwardsville Head Start.

"We have morning and afternoon sessions. In the morning session, we start at 8:30 with verbal hugs and greetings, and then we have breakfast for 30 minutes."

"Then they learn to brush their teeth properly. The kids next have free-choice time, which is a period of 70 minutes where the kids themselves choose subjects to learn like science or math," Crutis said.

Preschoolers have what she calls a growth motor time, in which youngsters learn to develop their motor skills through fun and basic exercises. Children eat lunch and are dismissed at 11:15 a.m.

The afternoon session begins with lunch at 12:45 p.m. and continues with the morning session until dismissal at 3:30 p.m.

Paar said the children also receive physical and dental examinations and are usually referred to another agency for immunization, although some Head Start centers do give immunizations.

"We also have parent activities. Parents have one or two meetings a month. We sometimes refer them to other aid agencies to help them. And, sometimes, the parents who need to get involved in a GED (general educational development) program or a reading program to better themselves," Paar said.

Crutis, who had been a center supervisor and teacher for the past two years at the Caseyville Head Start, is pleased with the amount of parent participation at the Edwardsville Head Start center.

"So far, the parents have been wonderful. A great many parents are going out of their way to participate with their children in our programs. The community has been wonderful and has welcomed us, too," Crutis said.

Paar said the Edwardsville center is off to a "great start." Applying for admission to a Head Start is not difficult, said Paar. A parent should take the child's birth certificate, plus some document to show the family's income level, such as an income tax form or a public aid statement, and the child's immunization records to the Head Start facility in their area.

A staff member will talk to them, and if qualifications are met, the child will be registered or at least signed to a waiting list.

"We try to put priority on children from extremely low income, single families and, of course, those from one center who are referred to another. It is on a first-come, first-served basis," said Paar about admission into the centers.

The Family Services and Visiting Nurse Association sponsors the Head Start program in this region. The Federal Department of Health and Human Services provides a federal grant to help with expenses, Paar said.

The Edwardsville Head Start is located in the First Baptist Church building and is one of this area's nine Head Start centers. The other eight centers are located in Alton, which has four centers, and Caseyville, East Alton, East St. Louis and Venice.

Those interested in registering their children in the Edwardsville center may call the center at 692-9694. Paar said interested parents should call their local Head Start centers as soon as possible to receive information about registering children.
